GARY GERBER

Gary Gerber is an executive and team coach who helps smart people become better leaders. Gary established and teaches the "PHD of Leadership"™ and offers cutting-edge, visionary perspectives and strategic solutions developed through over 25 years of business leadership experience in technology, payments, healthcare, non-profit and start up sectors in North America, Asia-Pacific, Latin America, Europe and the Middle East.

An in-demand speaker, trainer and leadership resource, Gary has served as Department Head of both Product Innovation and Global e-Commerce at Visa Inc. where he was responsible for transforming early-stage advanced technologies into worldwide profitable lines of business. He has helmed multiple non-profit Boards of Directors, coaches soccer and baseball, and directs theater, including The Mikado this Fall for the Stanford Savoyards.

Gary is currently President and Owner of Gerber Associates where he boosts company's bottom lines by coaching and training practical leadership skills, and by bridging communication gaps between technical and business teams.
