NEXT WEEK'S SPEAKER: JACQUIE PROCTOR

Jacquie Proctor, longtime resident of Miraloma Park and cofounder of the Friends of Mount Davidson Conservancy, will present her new book on San Francisco's West of Twin Peaks. With a master's degree in public administration and 30 years of experience in city management, she has been volunteering her expertise to the Miraloma Park Improvement Club and West of Twin Peaks Council since the 1980s. Her work to preserve Mount Davidson Park during the court case concerning separation of church and state in 1997 sparked her interest in local history. Research for that effort was initially published in articles for the SF Museum and Historical Society and Western Neighborhood Project. Her research has now been expanded into the first book exclusively devoted to the history of San Francisco's highest hill and surrounding neighborhoods: Sunnyside, Miraloma Park, Westwood Park and Highlands, Monterey Heights, Mount Davidson Manor, Balboa Terrace, and Ingleside Terraces. Recently retired from the City of Berkeley, Jacquie continues to volunteer as an accreditation evaluator for the American Public Works Association and a San Francisco City Guide.
